Literacy & Writing

This week we focused on Winter. We read several Winter stories such as The Twelve Days of Winter by Deborah Lee Rose and One Mitten by Kristine O'Connell George. We discussed Winter vocabulary and put the words in alphabetical order. The students drew pictures of something they enjoyed over break and wrote about it. They enjoyed sharing their stories with the class. We discussed the meaning of New Year resolutions and they practiced writing their own. They came up with some pretty creative ideas. We also reviewed some of the concepts taught during the last quarter.

Math

This week we reviewed Math concepts from last quarter. The kids also continue working on adding and subtracting. We used snowmen to create addition problems.

Spanish

This week in Spanish, the children started learning the different articles of clothing in Spanish. They also worked on some Spanish Winter (Inverno) vocabulary.

Special Notes

MLK Day: There will be no school on Monday, January 16th.

PRESIDENT OF THE WEEK: We will begin President of the Week on Tuesday, January 17th.

TAKE HOME FOLDERS: Please initial your child's behavior calendar daily.

LEVELED READERS: Leveled readers will start going out again on Tuesday, January 17th. Please remember to sign off on the Reading Log every time your child is ready to read to me.

SIGHT WORDS: Sight Words will start going out again on Tuesday, January 17th. Please remember to practice them with your child all week and send them back in on Friday.

Happy Birthday to Jeffrey Lynch and Javen Ironside!

Pumsy

This week the children learned a new unit song titled, "Ask me and I'll tell you why". They also drew pictures of themselves doing something hard.

Music

This week in Music, the children sang various songs about snow. They enjoyed catching snowflakes (bubbles) with their hands and tongues.
